“ I have always been impressed by Jamie's professionalism and knowledge when it comes to preparing to hire and hiring. Not only does Jamie care deeply about her clients and their success, she also believes in supporting those around her within her community. Because of her expertise, ability to serve and support, I asked her to be a keynote speaker at my annual Raising Influence Women's Conference. Although I had no doubt she would deliver an excellent speech, Jamie went above and beyond my expectations. She came prepared, delivered a ton of value to our audience, and her stage presence was very professional. - Jenna Carelli, Raising Influence ”

About Jamie

Jamie Van Cuyk is a hiring consultant who helps women small business owners become confident leaders who hires right every single time.

After leaving a successful corporate career to follow her entrepreneurship dreams, Jamie quickly learned that many business owners had no or minimal experience hiring employees. With ineffective teams being one of the top reasons businesses fail, Jamie felt inspired to help companies overcome this challenge and succeed.

Today, drawing from her over 15 years of leadership experience, Jamie teaches her clients how to master the art of hiring.

On a personal side, Jamie lives in St Petersburg, FL, with her husband and two daughters, loves to travel, is a home winemaker, and enjoys exercise that takes her feet off the ground, including rock climbing and aerial dance.
